ALEX BRADFORD, SR., DEAD

He Was Once Farmer and Stock Raiser of Boone County.

Alex Bradford, Sr., a former resident of Boone County, died Wednesday evening at his home in Kansas City. He was a member of the pioneer Bradford family and was born in this county April 21, 1842. Until twenty-five years ago, Mr. Bradford was a farmer and stock raiser near Columbia. He was connected with a commission firm of Kansas City as a cattle and mule salesman.

Mr. Bradford is survived by his wife, Mrs. Hattie L. Bradford; two sons, Slater L. and G. Austin, both of Kansas City; and four daughters, Mrs. H. H. Clark of Stockton, Cal., Mrs. Albert A. McLeone, Mrs. Peter J. Keegan, and Mrs. Joseph F. Linney of Kansas City. Mrs. S. E. Lenoir and Mrs. Narcissa Dyas of this city are sisters of Mr. Bradford.

TO SELECT GASS' SUCCESSOR

Democrats to Nominate Lamkin for Superintendent of Schools!

The State Democratic Committee will meet Monday in Jefferson City to place the name of a candidate on the Democratic ticket for the office of State Superintendent of Public Schools. The office is now held by Uel W. Lamkin, who was appointed by Governor Major to fill the full unexpired term of Howard Gass, who died recently. Mr. Lamkin probably will be the candidate selected.

Tuesday is the last day for placing a name on the ballot for the coming election in November. The State Supreme Court decided yesterday that in the case of the appointment of James Hagerman, Jr., as Circuit Clerk in St. Louis, the governor could not make the appointment for the full unexpired term but only until the fall election. Attorneys for Mr. Lamkin submitted briefs in his behalf to the court and asked for a decision on his appointment, holding that in his case the state constitution enabled the governor to make the appointment for the full time and that a vote was not necessary this fall. It is understood that the court held that the briefs did not include sufficient information on which to base a decision. Additional evidence will be submitted and an effort made to get a decision from the court before election; but in the meantime the state committee will name a candidate in case there is an adverse decision or in case the court fails to decide before election day.

DEDICATE FLOOD MEMORIAL

Benton School Reading Room Opened With Services Today.

Memorial services for Miss Sallie R. Flood were held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Benton School. The dedication of the room which is to be called the Sallie Flood Reading Room was made. The room has been furnished by the Mothers' Club of Benton School. The room will be the school library and a number of books have already been bought for it. It is hoped that the parents as well as the children will use it.

On the wall of the room has been fixed a memorial tablet bearing the date of Miss Flood's death, July 5, 1915, and commemorating the twenty years of her service in Benton School. At the meeting this afternoon the invocation was offered by the Rev. T. W. Young and short talks were made by E. W. Stephens and J. T. McPherson. Mrs. A. Jeffries gave the dedication speech.

TO PRESENT LIBRARY BILL IN LEGISLATURE

have $145 in the treasury now and we want $10,000.

Purd B. Wright of Kansas City spoke on "Functions of a Public Library." He said that a public library should lead to broad culture. "The brick layer should be able to learn things there that would help him in his work. A peddler came into our library the other day and asked for some books to help him; he sold silks and wanted to find out about the product he was selling."

"Libraries are especially good for those who have not had a change to get an education, and statistics prove that many of these persons really want better training. The three leading correspondence schools of the United States have a larger enrollment than the five largest colleges and universities of Missouri."

Mr. Wright thought that the business men of Columbia should get behind the movement. "It is worth while just for the children's sake," he said.

Mrs. E. G. Emmons of Mexico told how the Women's Club in Mexico secured a city library. "It was necessary for us to meet with the city council," said Mrs. Emmons, "and we persuaded them to submit it to a vote of the people. Then we worked hard to create public sentiment in favor of it. We even made speeches, and on election day we were at the polls all day. We got the library."

"We have a splendid educational system in Missouri," continued Mrs. Emmons, "and we are now meeting in the highest educational institution of the state. We are supporting it in order that its students may make better citizens; that is our dividend, better citizenship."
